Drawing or Painting the Figure

Instructor: Diana Stezalski

Day/Date: Friday, July 24, 9:00 AM – 4:00 PM; One Day

Student Fee: $135, includes model fee

Max: 15 Min: 6 Level of Skill: B//A/P

This one-day intensive workshop with Florence Academy of Art graduate and School of the Art Institute instructor Diana Stezalski concentrates on the development of “seeing skills” in reference to the figure. The elements of painting in wet media (oil or acrylic) or drawing (pencil, charcoal, oil pastel) are developed during short poses in the morning, with exercises in right-brain drawing, ways of measuring, and techniques for rendering the model. A long pose is scheduled for the afternoon. Cost of nude models included. Beginners are welcome.

Mixed Media Portraiture

Instructor: Diana Stezalski

Day/Date: Saturday, July 25, 9:00 AM – 4:00 PM; One Day

Student Fee: $135, includes model fee

Max: 15 Min: 6 Level of Skill: B//A/P

This one-day intensive workshop with Florence Academy of Art graduate and School of the Art Institute instructor Diana Stezalski concentrates on portraiture, working in either dry or wet media, or both, focusing on the development of “seeing skills” in reference to the portrait. Short poses will be done in the morning, with a long pose in the afternoon. The study of color from a limited palette perspective will be included to demonstrate how color can create space and volume and influence the interpretation of the portrait. Cost of model included. Beginners are welcome.

Exploring the Artistic Eye – For Children & Teens

Instructor: Kate McShea

Days/Dates: Monday through Friday, July 27,28,29,30,31

5 Days Hours: 9:00 AM – 12:30 PM

Student Fee: $175 for 5-days, includes materials

Max: 15 Min: 6 Level of Skill: B//A Age 8 & up

Interested in trying different media? Curious about painting, drawing, sculpture, and more? Well this summer you have an opportunity to explore and create. Through a five-day class we will look into these interest areas and will complete at least one original work per day. Local art instructor Kate McShea will be leading this creative expedition. All levels are welcome. Supplies will be provided. Students should bring sketchbooks and pictures of people and objects they find interesting (including ones that can be incorporated into the projects and a close range picture of themselves). Please wear old clothes and bring a snack every day.

Composition and Design for Oil and Oil Pastels

Instructor: David Hettinger

Days/Dates: M-T-W. August 3,4,5; Three Days

Hours: 9 AM – 12:30 PM

Student Fee: $210

Max: 12 Min: 8 Level of Skill: I/A (no beginners)

David Hettinger returns to the Batavia School of Art with over 35 years experience as a professional Fine Artist working with galleries. With David's instruction, create art from your own reference. Explore the use of color and developing design for your artwork. The class will begin with a demonstration. Students should have their own equipment and easel.

An Uncommon Journey:

African American Art of the Twentieth Century

Monday, July 20, 7 pm

Art historian Jeff Mishur discusses a selection of African American artists, including Henry Ossawa Tanner, Aaron Douglass, Walter Ellison, Archibald Motley, Jr., Jacob Lawrence, Faith Ringgold, and others. Several styles practiced by African American artists will be discussed within the context of major European and American art movements, including the Harlem Renaissance, a cultural movement occurring in the U.S. between the wars.

“Splash and Flash” Watercolor

Tuesday, July 28, 7 pm

Artist Suzanne Hetzel demonstrates how to loosen up with watercolor and experiment with the media to achieve dynamic results. She will show the techniques available for florals, landscapes, and still lifes, as well as how to put yourself into your work to get the most individual results.

The Modern Wing at the Art Institute of Chicago

Monday, August 3, 7 pm

The recently opened Modern Wing, designed by Renzo Piano, serves as a new exhibition space for the world-renowned collection of modern and contemporary art. This lecture presents the wing's architecture in the context of Piano's career. It also considers the new structure as part of the museum's larger complex of buildings and includes a brief overview of the art work on view in the new spaces. Presenter Paula Wisotzki is Adjunct Lecturer, Museum Education, Art Institute of Chicago and Associate Professor of Art History at Loyola University Chicago.
